Bible School For Summer

The Vacation Bible School, sponsored by the United and Anglican Church of Strathmore will be held again this year from July 19 to July 30. The school will be held in the morning at 9:00 a.m. For those who attend, a profitable and enjoyable time is assured since the programme includes such items as singing, Bible study, games, handicrafts and films.

Local United Church Pretty Setting for Julian-Hunt Wedding

Saturday July 10, marriage vows were exchanged between William Ernest Julian, only son of Mrs. Julian and the late W. E. Julian of Strathmore and Margaret Gwendolyn Hunt, only daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Stanley R. Hunt of Calgary in a double ring ceremony in Strathmore United Church.

The ceremony was performed by the father of the bride, Rev. S. R. Hunt assisted by Rev. A. A. Hamilton Pastor of the church.

The wedding music was played by Miss Jean Garrett. A solo, "The Lord's Prayer" was very effectively rendered as the conclusion of a Praxel, by Mr. Elaine Chapman, and a solo by Miss D. Geeson of Edmonton "O Perfect Love" was sung during the signing of the register, with Miss Georgia Chapman accompanying.

The church was beautifully decorated with a profusion of garden flowers in a unique design, also candles, the artistic handwork of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Isaacs and Mrs. Carl Miskimen of Strathmore, relatives of the groom.

Ushers were Messrs. Harold Hunt brother of the bride, and Carl Miskimen, brother-in-law of the groom. Strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march from the organ announced the arrival of the bride, and the wedding party took their places before the flower decorated altar.

The bride made a very lovely picture as she proceeded up the aisle on the arm of her father. She chose for her wedding a beautiful floor length gown of embossed chiffon over cream taffeta, with fitted neckline, short sleeves and white lace mitts. Her floor length veil was of embroidered net, caught with orange blossoms. Her only ornament was a zircon pendant, the gift of the groom. She carried a colonial bouquet of deep crimson roses and stephanotis.

Miss Marion Moss of Edmonton, her bridesmaid, wore a gown of blue net over blue satin with blue lace mitts, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations and white sweet peas. Mrs. Harold Hunt and Mrs. Carl Miskimen acted as attendants. Mrs. Hunt wearing a gown of apricot sheer over satin, and Mrs. Miskimen a gown of chateau sheer. Each carried bouquets of orchid carnations and white sweet peas.

Mr. John Schaeer attended the groom.

Following the ceremony the wedding party and guests motored to the home of the bride's parents at Carseland where a reception was held and festivities were extended. Mrs. Hunt, Mrs. Julian and Mr. Isaacs received with the bride and groom. Mrs. Hunt wore a gown of blue crepe, black hat and black accessories and a white gardenia as corsage and Mrs. Julian wore a navy grey gown with black hat and blue accessories and a corsage of red rose buds.

The bride's table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake flanked by vases of pink rose buds. Tea was poured by Mrs. J. D. Wainop and Mrs. Wilson of Parkland, Alberta, and Mrs. and Mrs. Isaacs, aunt of the groom. Servers were Mrs. Gerald Loree of Nanton, Mrs. G. Loree of Parkland and Misses Sun, Wilson, and Coleman. Betty McMurray and Frances Gray.

Mr. G. E. Moss of Edmonton, in happy and eloquent vein, proposed the toast to the bride and the groom responded very ably. A solo "Down The Vale" was sung by Rev. Hunt in excellent voice, with Miss Chapman accompanying.

The happy couple left by motor for Banff where the honeymoon will be spent, the bride donning a very becoming three piece ensemble of Dusky Rose with white accessories.

ADAM'S DESCENDANTS

We had a chap giving us a pep talk the other day on some sort of addle-pated religious views he entertained. He spoke of man before the time of Adam and other such notions. Now there are two things you can believe, either that Adam was the first man or you can believe that there was no such person as Adam but rather a long line of men going back millions of years, changing through each million years into something a little different. But you can't believe both in Adam and an evolving man before him, so we'll eliminate our addle-pated acquaintance's statement.

We are inclined to believe in Adam and his sudden creation, in spite of the evidence of Folsom craniums and pre-Folsom points and so on, largely because Adam is so human. Right from the beginning, he blamed somebody else for his troubles. There is no evidence that pre-Folsom man blamed his troubles on anyone and so we can't consider him even slightly human.

Adam started out by blaming his wife for his fall and his descendants have gone right on ever since blaming someone else for their troubles. The Jews were inclined to blame their troubles on Jehovah's ill temper and consistently prayed that the Almighty's wrath be diverted from them. The Egyptians blamed their troubles on the Hebrews and the Greeks on the barbarians, the Romans on the burden of empire and so on down through history.

Modern man, of course, blames his troubles on his government, which proves he's quite human and not to be confused with Folsom man. He's definitely a son of Adam. Nanton News

BREAKING BROME GRASS SOD

An experiment was started in 1924 at the Experimental Farm at Indian Head to compare three methods of breaking the sod of brome grass and was continued for more than 20 years. The methods were compared, not only from the standpoint of the yield of grain after the grass but also on the basis of the efficient eradication of the grass. They were as follows, says E. V. McNulty, Dominion Experimental Farm, Indian Head, Sask.:

(1) Plough five inches deep immediately after the hay is removed, 18 in. and work as required throughout the rest of the season;

(2) Plough five inches deep immediately after the hay crop is removed and disk as required until fall and then backset in September;

(3) Plough five inches deep early in the spring and summer-fallow throughout the rest of the season.

Breaking after the hay was removed and then backsetting proved the most efficient method for the eradication of the grass. From the standpoint of yield of subsequent crops, wheat after the complete summer-fallow averaged 22 bushels to the acre; after taking a crop of hay, breaking and backsetting, 14.2 bushels; and after taking a crop of hay and only ploughing, 13.2 bushels. On the basis of these figures the complete summer-fallow would appear the most satisfactory but in this case the value of the hay crop was lost. Hay, in the year of breaking, over the 20 year period averaged slightly more than one ton to the acre. A farmer, therefore, when assessing these three methods would have to determine whether this ton of hay had more value to him than the seven or eight bushel increase in yield of wheat he would get by breaking his field in the early part of the season. Oats were grown as the second crop after breaking and the yields averaged 33.7, 34.3 and 36.8 bushels respectively.

THE FIRST FALLOW OPERATION

Summer-fallowing time is here again and with it comes the ever serious hazard of soil drifting. Of all the soil drift control measures trash cover is the most effective. The first stroke on summer-fallow can be the deciding factor as to whether or not there will be sufficient trash to provide year-round protection.

The blade type cultivator or the one-way disc are used extensively for the first stroke at the Dominion Experimental Station and on sub-stations throughout Southern Alberta. The depth of the operation is determined by what implement will be used for the second stroke. If it is planned to use a rod weeder the first operation should be about four inches deep so that the rod weeder will work properly.

When it is planned to follow the blade with a one-way or blade, the depth should be no deeper than required to do good work. This is also true when the one-way precedes the blade or one-way. The second stroke following the blade or one-way should be slightly deeper than the first stroke. Only in exceptional circumstances has the one-way disc been used for more than two operations.

Speed of operations is important in trash cover fallowing. The blade cultivator does its best weed killing at high speeds and it is one of the few implements that does not bury too much trash at high speeds. Using a one-way disc or the duck-foot cultivator at speeds over 3½ miles, usually results in much of the trash being buried, with the result that there is much less protection against wind erosion.

Long time records show that there is less wind during June and July than there is in the fall or early spring. In order to have sufficient protection throughout the year, it is essential to maintain a good trash cover that will carry through the fall and spring and into the fall and spring.

Freedom of the Press

What precisely is meant by that familiar phrase, 'freedom of the press'?

Fundamentally it is not a special privilege reserved for newspaper publishers. It is rather a phase of a much larger freedom—the freedom of all men to speak their minds openly and without fear. The press claims no right which should not belong to every citizen in a democracy, but freedom of the press is an all-important part of this larger freedom because, under modern conditions, the press is the principal agency by which the ordinary man receives the information he needs to judge the actions of his rulers and make up his mind on public issues. Without newspapers, or with only gagged and blindfolded ones, he is in the dark, and helpless. An unfettered press is therefore one of the essential bulwarks of a democratic world.

If any proof be needed, it is provided by the record of the Fascist and Nazi dictatorships. Rigid control of all sources of public information, and especially of newspapers, was the corner-stone upon which those regimes were founded. Without it they could never have held power. With it they could do as they pleased to the eventual ruin of their own peoples as well as much of the rest of the world.

This disastrous chapter of history should provide a warning against any attempt by governments or by private interests, to restrict the essential freedom of the press. A free people must stand on guard not only against direct censorship, but also against more insidious encroachments. Nominal freedom is not enough. The only truly free press is one which can record the news faithfully and comment on it frankly without fear of direct or indirect punishment. Neither the press nor the public is safe with anything less than this.

Liberty of course involves obligations. The obligation of a free press is to be truly free. It must be thorough, accurate and unbiased in its reporting, sincere and thoughtful in its editorials, and resistant to all outside pressure. It must be both cautious and bold—cautious until it knows all the facts, bold when it is sure of its ground. It must, above all, be inspired by devotion to the public welfare as its staff understands it.

Such a newspaper is worthy of the privileges which the English-speaking peoples have traditionally granted to their press. Such a newspaper is also the best guardian of the liberties of the people.

Disturbing Nature's Balance

Mother Nature has a method of maintaining the balance in all her multifarious activities. When man intrudes in his blundering way that balance is disturbed, even in times at dire consequence to himself.

At the present time agricultural authorities in the United States are worried about a shortage of bees. This isn't because there is any dearth of honey for there is an abundance of that commodity, but the honey bee does five sixths of nature's pollinating job. The bees take care of practically all fruit blossoms, clover, alfalfa and so forth. Fruit growers know the advantage to them of having bees around and for years they have rented honey bee colonies for their blossom season.

In its primitive state the country provided ample facilities for wild bees and bumble bees in woods and swamps, but the onward rush of civilization resulted in the clearing of forests and the drainage of the low lands, the natural environment of the bees. In recent years the development and extending use of powerful insecticides has had a serious effect on the bee population. Now the agricultural authorities are becoming worried.

Very few people have ever given more than a passing thought to the bee. The general concern of the public had been to the product of these hard-working insects, their honey, but the usefulness of bees extends far beyond that. If their numbers continue to decline humanity will find itself in an awkward position. Fruits and forage crops will be scarce which means lessened production in essential foods and principally meats.

Existence on this planet is a complicated process and the most disturbing element in the whole set-up is the creature known as man.

TALL WHEATGRASS

(Experimental Farm News)

A new grass may be available soon for land where there is a fairly large amount of alkali salts in the soil. Its name is tall wheatgrass and, under good moisture conditions it will grow five to six feet tall and produces good hay yields even though the soil contains considerable alkali. It will thrive where the water table is close to the surface most of the season and wet on top for part of the time. It is also quite draught resistant and, though not the equal of crested wheatgrass under dryland conditions, will nevertheless produce satisfactory yields of forage. The ideal place for tall wheatgrass is on irrigated or spring flooded soils where moderate to heavy quantities of alkali are present. There have been very few crops available in the past to grow on such locations. Sander wheatgrass is regarded as about the best along with sweet clover, and alfalfa fairly good, once established. Indications are that tall wheatgrass will stand more salts than any of these and produce more hay. There are many locations throughout Western Canada on irrigated or spring flooded land where the alkali content of the soil is so high that it is not possible to establish the common forage crops.

As a result of experiments to date it is believed that tall wheatgrass will fill the need for a grass highly tolerant to alkali, as well as a water logged condition of the soil. It may now be possible to bring into production many areas where alkali content of the soil would prevent common forage crops from growing. Tall wheatgrass is a good seed setter, yields of three to four hundred pounds per acre being about average. It has large seeds and is easy to establish. The hay produced is inclined to be coarse but otherwise is nutritious and eaten readily enough by livestock. By cutting promptly at heading time, however, a better quality hay can be secured.

PLOUGHING VERSUS PLOUGHLESS TILLAGE

During the past 12 years ploughing as the first tillage operation in the preparation of summerfallow has been compared with surface tillage in experiments at the Farming Reclamation Station at Melfort, Manitoba, and on several sub-stations in southwestern Manitoba. Following the initial work done by the plough and the one-way, the cultivator was used for subsequent cultivation.

There proved to be little difference in the yields of wheat following both types of tillage. In the drier seasons and on lighter soils surface tilled fallow yielded slightly higher than ploughed fallow. Surface tilled fallow left a trash cover which is necessary on soils subject to erosion. Ploughing generally cost one-fifth more than working land with the one-way with the result that the cost to raise a bushel of wheat on ploughed fallow ranged from five to seven cents higher than that grown on land exclusively ploughed.

In wet seasons, however, the ploughed land invariably yielded a better crop. It also proved better on heavy clay soils which have a tendency under surface tillage to become almost impenetrable to a depth below two to three inches. For a second crop after summerfallow ploughing has given better yields.

MEALS ON WHEELS

In the early days of the Canadian Pacific Railway the experienced traveller ate his five- and six-course meals in the truly Victorian atmosphere of the dining car shown at left; he would be surprised and bewildered today if he boarded one of the C. P. R.'s sleek modern diners such as the one in the right-hand picture. For more than 60 years the Canadian Pacific has owned and operated its own sleeping, dining and parlor cars, the only large line on the continent to have done so for so long. Even before the railway was pushed through to the Pacific there were 51 cars of these types in service—now there are close to 700.

In the 1880's the dining cars were said to be "beyond comparison in style and finish, where travellers will find all the delicacies of the season at their demand for the non-final charge of 75 cents". Dining cars were cheap to build in those days too, costing about $10,000 compared to the $140,000 the C. P. R. must spend for a modern steel diner today.

F. W. Gerahaw.

Under the Canadian Constitution health is a Provincial responsibility, and most provinces have built up modern health services. On May 14th, Mr. King announced that grants would be made available for the extension of health measures. The administration will continue to be by Provincial Governments.

The Health Survey grants of $625,000 will enable the provinces to survey the needs and set up organizations to arrange plans to provide the very best health care that medical science has produced.

The second feature is that the National Health Grant will provide from 4 to 6½ million dollars annually for improving public health services; also 3 to 4 million for the final campaign to defeat tuberculosis. There will be 4 million the first year for mental health. This will gradually be increased to 7 million.

Similar grants in smaller amounts will annually be given for crippled children, venereal disease control, training personnel, health research, cancer control and hospital construction.

In connection with hospital construction, the Dominion will make matching grants to the provinces, up to 13 million annually, for 3 years, the needs will be again examined. For the allocation of this and also the other grants, formulae will be worked out in consultation with the provinces. The survey grant will be used to cover the costs of consultations and surveys to determine the relative needs of different districts.

In the first year, these grants total 30 million dollars. Money is, however, only one factor, and it is to be hoped that wisdom and good judgment will bring a great measure of help where it is really needed.

The Dominion realizes that social welfare is essential to healthful living. To assist along this line — family allowances, pensions for the aged and the blind, insurance pay-

Irrigation

An inch of rain is more effective than several inches of irrigation water for growing crops. For vegetables, at least three inches of water is given with each application. Only one irrigation is required for such crops as peas, beans, corn, onions and most vine crops. Usually two applications are sufficient for carrots, cauliflower and tomatoes in the farm garden. Water can be applied often a third time for cabbage, celery, cucumbers, parsnips, potatoes and swede turnips. After the first time, water is applied subsequently when the soil is not moist at a depth of six inches. When irrigating, the common mistake is to apply too little and too late.

UNDER THE STREETLAMP

The Negro witness was being cross-examined about a former friend.

Counsel—Do you suggest the witness is a thief?

Negro—I wouldn't say he is a thief, suh, but I do say dis, if I was a chicken, an' I saw him loafin' around, I'd sure roost high.

Leyton Crockett: — I'm wondering what to buy for my wife's birthday.

Jimmy Gannon: — Well, ask her.

Leyton: — Good heavens, I couldn't afford that.

Art Lugg: "Dad, a man's wife is his better half, isn't she?"

Mr. LUGG: "We're told so, son."

Art: "Well, if a man marries twice there isn't much left of him, is there?"

A writer says its easy for girls to find a husband. How about a single man?

A woman was bemoaning the fact that her husband had left her for the sixth time.

"Never mind," sympathized her neighbour, "he'll come back again."

"Not this time," she sobbed, "He has taken his golf clubs."

Ehid Baldwin: "Was your chaperone much of a nuisance at the dance last night?"

Verna Mae Gannon: "Yes, we couldn't find her anywhere when it was time to go home."

"Doctor," stammered Jack Coldwell, "I . . . I . . . I'm going to marry Mary Smith, and . . ."

"Splendid, my boy," effused Doctor John. "Congratulations."

"But there's something I have to get off my chest."

"Don't let it trouble you. Just tell me all about it."

"Well, it's a red and blue heart with the name, Mabel, on it."

in INDUSTRY: Canadian railways for example, are using more and more aluminum in freight cars and passenger coaches.

in the HOME: too, more and more articles are being made of aluminum — washing machine tubs, for instance.

The reasons? There are many! Aluminum is light, strong, easy to keep clean, it is durable, cannot rust. It is economical because, through research and large-scale production, the price has been reduced 25% since 1939.

Today more than 1000 Canadian companies are fashioning aluminum into countless useful and beautiful shapes — as varied as buses and aircraft, garden tools and vacuum cleaners.

Tomorrow its advantages will be adapted to make still other articles which are lighter and more attractive. Next time you go shopping, notice how many things are made of aluminum.

"FOREIGN EXCHANGE"

The aluminum produced in Canada last year found its way to 48 other countries, the largest buyers abroad being the United Kingdom and the United States. Our production was so great that, after Canadian manufacturers had been supplied, we still had 85% left for export — a valuable source of foreign exchange.

Who Does Your Printing?

All business houses need more or less printed matter, all of which is within the possibilities of the local printer. Yet how prone many are to pass up the home printer and let the orders go to city offices which have no interest whatever in rural communities except to get printing orders and the cash to pay for them.

Business men, remember that the home paper is constantly promoting the interests of the home community and you owe it to yourself and your local paper to back up these efforts by at least having your printed matter done locally.

Farmer's Column

R. J. Milligan, District Agriculturist

On June 14 and 15, the Agricultural Service Board together with interested District Agriculturists and Departmental Officials, met in Edmonton to summarize Service Board work done throughout the province. Previous to going to Edmonton, the Bow Valley Service Board met, and several important points were discussed, for example, that it was illegal to burn stubble according to the Agricultural Service Board Act. This act comprises of the Weed Act, Agricultural Relief Act, which suspects feed conservation in its various forms, straw, hay and green feed. The Pest Control Act deals with various agricultural insects and pests, even root rot in potatoes. Pure Bred Sire Act, Soil Conservation Act, Tuberculosis Free Area, Agricultural Services, and so on.

There are several fire wardens appointed in the municipality. No one should burn straw without contacting one of these fire wardens. The same applies to stubble. These fire wardens are asked to contact the service board. We will investigate and if the straw is not needed and there is no other way of handling the stubble, permission will be granted to burn. Otherwise we will suggest ways and means of handling the material rather than burn it. This act is further strengthened by an act to amend and consolidate prevention of prairie and forest fires. Under Act 21, Part four, a council may cause fire hazards to be removed or the council can declare a municipality a closed area where no fires are permitted.

At our Service Board meeting in Strathmore, we appointed Mr. Harold Scheer to report on the first day's activities of the convention, and Mr. Doug Keer on the second day of the convention. Interested farmers and other members of the council are invited to see what is being done by other Agricultural Service Boards in other municipalities.

It is illegal to dump any foreign material on public property, that is, on road allowances and high-ways. You may not throw weeds from your field on to the road allowances. This is a punishable offence under the Weed Act. The Board wonders what has happened to the population surrounding Strathmore and between here and Calgary. We have seen dead chickens, tin cans, old papers and general trash deposited along the highway. This is also a punishable offence. We appeal to you to advise us of any of these misdemeanors and to refrain from doing such things yourself.

Several interesting points were brought out at our conference in Edmonton. Among them was one rather specific point. After considerable discussion, it was brought out that the farmer in all areas of the province must accept the responsibility of soil conservation. He is the occupant and the one who will directly gain and benefit from proper use of the land.

Of the money collected by the municipality, $1 out of every $100 is average expenditure for Service Board work in the province. The problem of Agricultural Supervisors of these Service Boards is to get the farmers and general public to accept the newer ideas of reclamation and conservation. As one speaker suggested, the problem is reclaiming the farmers and not the farms. When this is done, the farmers will do the work themselves and ask when help is needed.

The Minister of Agriculture, Hon. David Ure, in welcoming the Service Boards, suggested that they were doing some work towards the establishment of cleaning plants in the province whereby one-third of the expenses will be paid by the government, one-third by the municipality and one-third by the farmers. This would be something worth while for the municipality of Bow Valley.

Another speaker suggested that members of the council and members of the Service Board should not take each other as a distinct and separate organization. They are a part of each, and the members of both the council and the board should recognize the problems facing each municipality and act together so that a budget for work to be done can be submitted to the Board by the council for approval. The council should see that the Board does the work for which they have been appointed.

Another interesting item mentioned was that on May 25, the Old Man River flooded, and that from water analysis taken, this river carried away in form of silt, soil from an area of 160 to 220 acres of farm land to a depth of six inches. This cannot continue. We hope that the time is not far distant when we will be obliged to contour farm.

Fed Up!

Stopping to pass the time of day with a Strathmore farmer, a tourist learned that the farmer's father who was ninety years old was still working on the farm where he was born.

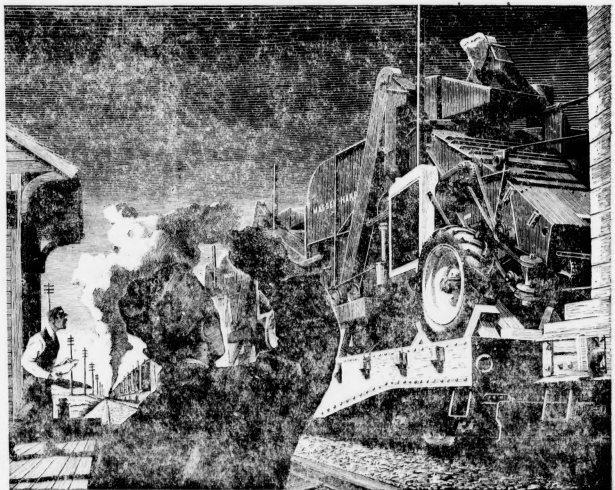

"Ninety years old, eh?" asked the tourist, "and is his health good?" "Tain't much now, he's been complaining 'fer a few months back." "What's the matter with him?" "I dunno, sometimes I think farm'n' don't agree with him."

Almost any attic holds articles that will sell for cash through the classified.

EVENTFUL SIXTIETH ANNIVERSARY

IN 1886 the Dominion Experimental Farms were founded. That year five farms were established at Ottawa, Nappan, N.S., Brandon, Manitoba; Indian Head, N.W.T., now Saskatchewan, and Agassiz, B.C. Now there are 31 Farms and Stations. The contribution of the system of farms in the past 60 years to the advancement of Canadian agriculture has been unmeasurable. Here are shown experimental plots at the Ottawa farm with the first Director, Dr. William Saunders (top left) and Dr. E. S. Archibald, the present Director.

Modern Harvesters' Excursion to Help Canadian Farmers

A New Era in Harvesting Started by Massey-Harris Combines

Trainloads of Massey-Harris combines rolling across the country to the grain farming areas are a common sight nowadays. They have replaced the once familiar annual harvesters' excursions which brought thousands of harvest hands to the prairies.

Modern mechanical harvesters like the Massey-Harris self-propelled combines, have brought many advantages to grain growers. With them, crops can be harvested with the minimum of manual labor, a great money-saving feature when, in times like these, experienced farm help is in short supply and wage rates are high.

Massey-Harris self-propelled combines speed up harvesting—one man can cut and thresh 50 acres and upwards in a day. Operating costs are low too with a self-propelled—one motor supplies power to propel and operate the machine. There is no expense for twine or stooking. And the combine has done away with the work, worry and expense of threshing time.

The demand for combines indicates the trend towards modern mechanical harvesting. From factories with capacity increased greatly, more and more Massey-Harris combines are being built to help Canadian farmers harvest their crops easier, quicker and at less cost.

Golf Course Ready

The Strathmore Golf Course is now in the best shape that it has been in for a number of years. Grass on the fairways has all been cut with the lawn mowers. The hay has been put up on the rough land and the caretaker expects to have the greens in first class condition by next Sunday.

A good deal of work and expense has been involved in getting the course back into shape after having been neglected for some years and the Executive hopes that all golfers will make full use of it for the balance of the year and help to put the Club back on its feet financially. Mr. Bert Donovan is secretary, and handles all membership fees.

Hate The Dentist?

Everybody knows about the lucky people in Deaf Smith County, Texas, who almost never need to visit the dentist. Their good teeth are due to the fluoride in the water they drink. As children, when their teeth are forming, the fluoride becomes imbedded in the enamel and the bacteria dislike that stuff like the villain hates the Lone Ranger.

Most of us do not enjoy the wonders of Deaf Smith County, and so must visit the chamber of horrors known as the dentist's office. At a recent convention of dentists, the U.S. Public Health Service showed the dentists a way to hurt their own business. The idea is to swab fluoride on the teeth of school children at the ages of 3, 7, 10 and 13. The swabbing is a little tricky and should be done carefully by a trained hygienist. They believe that this will reduce cavities about one half. A gallon of the stuff only costs a dime.

STANCO LIVESTOCK SPRAY IS THE IDEAL REPELLENT
For those who prefer a repellent spray, with a quick knock-down kill of all flies it hits, your Imperial Oil Agent offers the tried-and-proved Stanco Livestock Spray. No spray repels flies more effectively, or knocks them down faster.

THIS YEAR, you can rid your livestock and your stables, hog pens and poultry houses of flies, more completely than ever before. Imperial D D T Concentrate is the answer to your prayer, as far as flies are concerned.

It's economical to use, too. For power spraying or dipping, you mix only 1 part concentrate to 125 parts water (which is equal to about 2½ tablepoonsful in a gallon). For hand spraying, you double the strength. For walls and ceilings, a gallon of concentrate makes 5 gallons of spray.

As it dries, it leaves a residue of D D T on the animals' hair, or on walls and ceilings, which is sure death to every fly that lights on it. They pick it up on their feet and it kills by paralysis.

Imperial D D T Concentrate is the most up-to-the-minute fly killer on the market. You can depend on it. See your Imperial Oil Agent.
